STAT

I am sorry to be so late in replying to your letters of July 10th and 16th. By this time your son will have received directly the suggestion that he come North to Washington to talk with our personnel people here. At this point it appears quite possible that we will be able to work something out which, while giving your son the opportunity to fulfill his military obligations, will at the same time permit his best possible use in the Government service. I can however give you no assurance on the outcome until a personal interview has supplemented the information we now have.

May I express my appreciation for your writing to me and bringing this matter to my attention, because I feel as strongly as you do that we must use the youthful talent which we have at hand in the most efficient way possible.

Please ask your son to call my office when he is in town and I will be glad to see him.

Sincerely,

ILLEGIB
